

Thanks for the great directions. What a wonderful hike!!
And a lovely day too!

Plenty of dust in the air today, and a breeze, so not quite as gawelling as I'd feared. What a delightful photograph.

No one since 20/03/08?

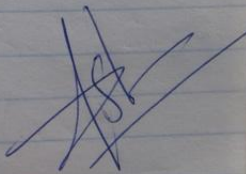

Yes! it was pretty hot today
A beautiful hike, but

"quelle bavante" as we say in French - Worth the climbing for the view Stunning!

Enjoy the way down!!!

Over-nighter 4-5 Dec 09

Just after I placed this book up here in Feb 08, I became ~~ill~~ ill again, and had to return to U.K. for nearly a year of treatment, in and out of hospital. During that time, I had phone-calls and emails from people who had climbed up here.

Of course I was keen to get well again and return to this special place.

We returned to Abu Dhabi in January this year but by the time we got to try and climb it was too hot. Now the weather has cooled off, I'm so happy to be fit and well again and able to lug camping and cooking gear up here to be able to spend the night. And what a night it was! Bright moon, clear skies and incredible views, all around; not to mention the pot-noodles washed down with beer, wine, and Baileys!

You can forget your Bab Al Shams, and Maha resorts; this is the place to be. Maybe best not to tell too many people eh, lest they build a road up here!! Enjoy it while you can.

Thanks for all your emails.

4 - Sat Dec 2009

- first time up without our dear Chirri-dog - he even did our early 'recess' climbs when he was a pup - soon learned how to chase goats + donkeys + which (rare) plants to eat before we were able to take photos of them!
- Had less to carry - no dog bowl, treats or extra water + sports tape to put on his cut paw-pads (result of gooching)
- It's never been so clear/bright and wonderfully fresh up here - but it's always the nearest to being in heaven in UAE/Oman
I feel so happy + lucky to share this place with others
Not many 'blobs' on the horizon up here + moon + stars were fantastic!
Have fun,
Liz

4-5th Dec '09.

This will probably be our last trip on Sumaini as we are leaving UAE in Jan after nearly 17 years (2 stints). Will miss these weekends and was determined to do an overnighter. Great views, Fantastic atmosphere and good company. Night time vistas ~~into~~ across Oman, Dubai, Al Ain & ? Sharjah were brilliant. Woke at sunrise to even more spectacular sights. Managed to get a decent amount of sleep and ready for the homeward journey. Bye for now & enjoy.
